Alexandria Ganette.

SATURDAY EVENING, FEB. 16, 1901.

There Was a Mistake. "I think," he began as he halted a pedestrian, "I think I made a mistake with the cabman who drove me to the Corcoran Art gallery. I am quite sure I gave him a $10 bill, but he must have mistaken it for a $2 bill."

"And you hope to find him again?"
asked the man of the stranger to the

"Why, yes, I have hopes." "Well, you are about as green as they make 'em. That cabman deliberately swindled you out of many dollars."

"I can hardly believe it. He looked so honest and truthful that I-I"-"That you ought to have asked him to hold your watch and the rest of your money! My dear old Josh from the cornfields, let me say".— At that minute a cab rattled up, and the driver dismounted and said:

"See here, old man, there is a mis take. You probably meant to give me a $2 bill, and I thought it was one when I gave you $1 in change."

But I think it was a ten, my friend. "No; it was a twenty, and I have been driving about for half an hour to find you and restore the money. . Here

"And what was it you were going to say to your dear old Josh from the cornfields?" asked the old man as he turned to the wise person.

But the wise person was there no longer. He was flying for a car as if running for his life.-Washington Post.

Green Not Restful to the Eyes. It seems as though cherished notion were no sooner on an apparently firm foundation than some inconsiderate iconoclast comes along and throws them down. People have for many years supposed that the color green was restful to human eyes and hav been referred to the green grass and green foliage that nature has been so prodigal with for the benefit of wearled

Now, according to a German profess or of Berlin, nature wasn't thinking of human eyes when she made her profuse verdant display and that her color scheme was carried out absolutely regardless of the visual needs of humanity. He says that green does not protect the eye, and he denies that it has any beneficial effects whatever. He declares that green paper, green shades, green glasses, green decorations and green umbrellas are all a mistake and that by increasing the green light we are simply provoking a nervous disturbance.

He says that each of the colors tires

a different set of nerves of vision, and therefore looking at one particular color saves one set of nerves at the exhe says, is to dim all of the rays of light by smoked or gray glasses, which rest all of the optic nerves.—New York Herald.

Safe Way to Watch Fights. The colonel and I sat talking under a shade tree in front of the town post-

"Come on!" I said as I sprang up. "Come this way," replied the colonel as he selzed my arm and drew me into a doorway.
"But I want to see the dogfight,"

"Yes. I reckon you do, but you also want to keep clear of the shooting."

"Why should there be any shooting? "Because one dog has got to lick t'other, and the owner of the licked dog ain't goin to let it rest that way. There

Ten minutes later we stepped out, to two bullets in him and some people carrying away a second with half a

"Dogfights are bewtiful affairs," said the colonel as we walked away, "but the safest way to see one in Kentucky is to wait till it's all over and the dead carried off."-Chicago News.

If you wait until your salary is raised, or until you happen to have an errane near the savings bank, you may be dead before you lay by a cent

There is only one way to save money. That is to begin now.—New York

At one of the railway construction works in Glasgow the other day a clergyman who takes a great interest in the members of his flock engaged at the cutting saw one of them entering a drinking place. He halled him, but Pat simply looked and walked in. Walting till be came out, the reverend gentleman accosted him thus, "Pat, didn't you hear me calling?"

"Yes, your ravrince, I did, but-but I had only the price of one!" - Ex-

Couldn't Do the Impossible.

No, the citizen would positively not buy any of the hair restorer. "Do you think you can make a monkey of me?" he hissed, with asperity.

"Oh, not at all," replied the vender "We don't pretend to be able to restore the hair lost in the process of evolution!"

An innocent bystander cracked s faint smile, but otherwise all was still. -Detroit Journal.

An Odd Epitaph. A visitor to a cemetery at South Ver-non, N. H., will find the following upon a gravestone there: Oh, be she went, and am she gone And left poor I here all alone? Oh, cruel fate, to be so blind To take she 'fore and lewe I 'hind! Her can never come back to we, But us must surely go to she.
